GERMAN MEN OF WAR AS SAMPLES -In the German Reichstag recently, General von Caprivi, replying to a National Liberal member who regretted that the Imperial Government had not sent any war-chips of its own to Chilian waters to safeguard the interests of German subjects, instead of intrusting this duty to England, reasoned at some length to show how very inconvenient and almost impossible it would have been for the Admiralty to comply with such a wish. Its vossels were much more urgently wanted elsewhere, at Samoa for example, and on the African coast, as well as in Australian and New Zealand waters, wherever, in fact, the direct colonial interests of Germany were involved, and where it was not enough merely to show a flag, but the necessity of an armed landing had to be provided for. Again. Chili as a present and future field of export for Germany was not to be compared now with China and Japan : and moreover. another cogent reason for always keeping a goodly squadron in Eastern waters was the circumstance that it would always serve as pattern wares to China, whose Government had already ordered several of its war vessels from German builders. Japan, too. had boughts number of tozpedo bosts in Germany, and it was necessary that, on reachtheir destination, they should be fitted up by Germans, who were easily obtainable from the ships of war in her seas. Chancellor showed that one vessel of war only would be of little use on the Chilian cosst, and more they could not possibly

EXTRAORDINARY MEETING-INGREASE OF

An extraordinary general a setting The Chairman-Gentlemen, I beg move the following special resolution:---

'That with a view to the further extension of the business of the Company in London and elsewhere, the Capital of the Comnany be increased to the sum of Six Hundred Thousand Dollars by the issue 10,000 New Shares of the value of Ten Dollars each, and that such New Shares fasued by the General Manager at suctime or times as he shall think fit, and be disposed of by him as if they were part the Shares in the original Capital of the Company, in such manner, on such terms. and at such premium as he shall in the interest of the Company determine. amount realized by way of premium to be put to Reserve Funds. Gentlemen, at the ordinary yearly meet ing this time last year I told you that it would probably be necessary before long to increase the capital of the Company if we wished to further increase its business. You have had a year to consider it and the resolution is now formally put to you to day. In moving it I think it only right to give you a general idea of the purposes for which it is required, and I will go on to tell you my reason for proposing to get the money in this way. The principal objects for which the additional capital is required are the extension of our business and the strengthening of some of our departments with stock." At the present moment we are working in many of our departments on from a month to six weeks' stock. Well, in some departments there is a certain amount of advantage in this, because although your-do restrict business you have no bad stock, and you obtain a reputation for always having new goods. This is especially the case with physic, proprietary articles, drugs and chemicals, and perhaps we gain more by having continually fresh goods than we lose by not being able in all cases to execute orders. But there are some departments | dent of the Gaol, with having at various harbour, the period of Lent interfering in which freshness is no advantage. (Applause). Well, I would propose to issue the new shares to the shareholders only. I out the resolution now in an open manner. but I think it only right to you that is what I mean to do. There be no difficulty about placing them amongst the shareholders, so that the alternative need not be considered at all. I daresay many of the shareholders are not yet registered and I think some time ought to be allowed them to register. Therefore I would not issue the new shares for, sav. at last a month from this date. With that explanation I would move the special resolution which I have read.

Mr D. McCalloch seconded, and the resolution was carried unanimously. The Chairman-Gentlemen, I am very much obliged to you for your attendance to-day in such large numbers, when we have such a very important matter in hand. One thing I forgot to mention is that I propose to issue these shares at a premium: of not less than 100 % even to the shareholders. I have been spoken to on the subject and told that the shareholders ought to get them for less, but I don't think it in the interests of the company to issue them for less. What we ought to do is to try to strengthen the company and it on a very sure and solid footing, and I don't think it is to the interests of the shareholders themselves especially to those who look upon it as an investment to give them any advantage in that way, share list is a large one; there are over 800 names in it and it would add a great deal to the difficulty of allotment.

Mr R. K. Leigh asked whether it was intended to issue the new shares to the shareholders in proportion to their holdings. The Chairman said he would make no bard and fast line in that way. They had some people who had only one share for example and shareholders would hardly believe the trouble there was in allotting the shares lust time. For his own part he should like probably more than a pro rata proportion of the new shares, as on last occasion he had to give away nearly the whole of his allotment to prevent his being turned out of the house (Laughter.) People came beseeching and begging and almost threatening, and he had to give to one and then another until he had very few left for himself. thought also that the London staff should have an opportunity as they would be interested very much in the new business. Another class of shareholders who ought to be considered were those who could help the business. With these exceptions thought the new shares should be allotted amongst the general body of shareholders.

as nearly as possible pro rata. Mr Wicking moved a vote of thanks Mr Humphreys for the manner in whi he had managed the business of the Company during the year, and also to the staff. The vote was cordially passed,
